

Florentine Park

1966 ~ The Park was purchased by the City from Florentine Kozojed for $1.00.

2012: On the recommendation of the Park and Rec Committee, the City Council reversed an earlier decision to sell Annie Street Park to developers who had proposed buying the property from the city for $97,000 to construct town homes. Some thought it was wrong for the City to sell a gift that had been donated in good faith.

2019: Fundraising efforts made it possible to purchase a brand-new playground and the park is now a popular neighborhood destination.
